Why NECO? I realized the question that I forgot to ask myself was "What school is going to give me the education I need to be confident in my skills as an optometrist?" As I thought about my interview days and the campus tours I had done, the only school that stuck out was NECO. I had been so impressed by the campus, the students, and the faculty I had already met. This was a community. There was never a wrong question to ask.
